for Prospective Research Postgraduate Students
8-12 July, 2019

The School of Science promotes a vibrant and dynamic environment that emphasizes academic excellence, innovation and collaboration. Comprised of one division and three departments, the School offers a wide spectrum of postgraduate programs aimed at enhancing our students' research experience and preparing them to meet the demands of ever-changing societal needs. Our core academic disciplines include chemistry, life sciences, mathematics, physics and an interdisciplinary program of environment science, the content of which is periodically updated to reflect the latest scientific developments and technological advancements.

Program: This Summer Camp is a 5-day program for those who are interested in pursuing MPhil or PhD programs in the School of Science at HKUST in the Fall of 2020. Participants will attend a series of informal seminars introducing the postgraduate programs offered and current research topics in the Division of Life Science. These seminars are intended to foster discussion among the participants and faculty members and to serve as a basis for further social and scientific interactions. Participants will also have opportunities to visit the individual research labs and university research facilities, meeting with professors and fellow postgraduate students, and discuss research topics and others, such as preparing for graduate school. This Summer Camp provides opportunity for the participants to learn the individual research groups and let the professors access your ability to conduct research projects in their MPhil or PhD programs.

Eligibility: Undergraduate students majoring in life science and chemistry, who have completed 3 years of studies (of a 4-year bachelor program) and have attained a GPA of 3.2 out of 4.0 (or 80%) or higher.

Housing and allowances: The Summer Camp will provide on-campus student hostel (2-3 persons per room) to the participants. Each participant will also receive meal coupons of up to HK$100 per day during the Summer Camp. Participants need to take care of their own transportation costs both to Hong Kong and back home.
